Thought for the month!

December is the final month of the year, make sure that you hold the ones you love close and let them know how you feel.

Onward...

This year has seen many new beginnings for many areas of my life and the challenge now will be to balance these new Endeavors and still enjoy being retired from a paid full time position. 2024, the challenge is on. Update you all in the new year. Happy New Year.

Here is a story from my heart.

This year saw a facetime on Christmas eve day with my Granddaughter and Son to open her presents and to share the story of how my Dad would let Christmas morning unfold and see who similar it was to hers. I am glad that this tradition is being passed, no presents until after breakfast.
